

Externs

ELUHO invites interested law students to apply to extern for the Pollution Control Hearings Board/Shorelines Hearings Board (PCHB/SHB) or the Growth Management Hearings Board (GMHB). Law student externs have the opportunity to gain law school credit and valuable experience serving Washington state's environmental and land use hearings boards.

Externs have the opportunity to work on a variety of complex environmental and land use legal issues, predominantly conducting legal research and drafting legal memoranda. Depending on the activities of the office at the time, externs may also participate in drafting and reviewing case orders and observing pre-hearing conferences and administrative hearings.

ELUHO is committed to mentoring and supporting law students interested in environmental, land use, and administrative law.

For more information or if you have questions regarding externship opportunities, please send your questions to Elie Steinberg at Elie.Steinberg@luho.wa.gov.
